SPIRE

As the grandeur of fall brings the seasonal year to a climax, the college takes form and gives birth to a new academic session. The campus comes to life with the arrival of the students. Their hopes, their spirit, their joy and their pursuit fill the physical plant with the vitality of the young. Belmont Abbey College, tempered with the wisdom of age, and renewed with the spirit of youth, begins again its journey toward maturity.

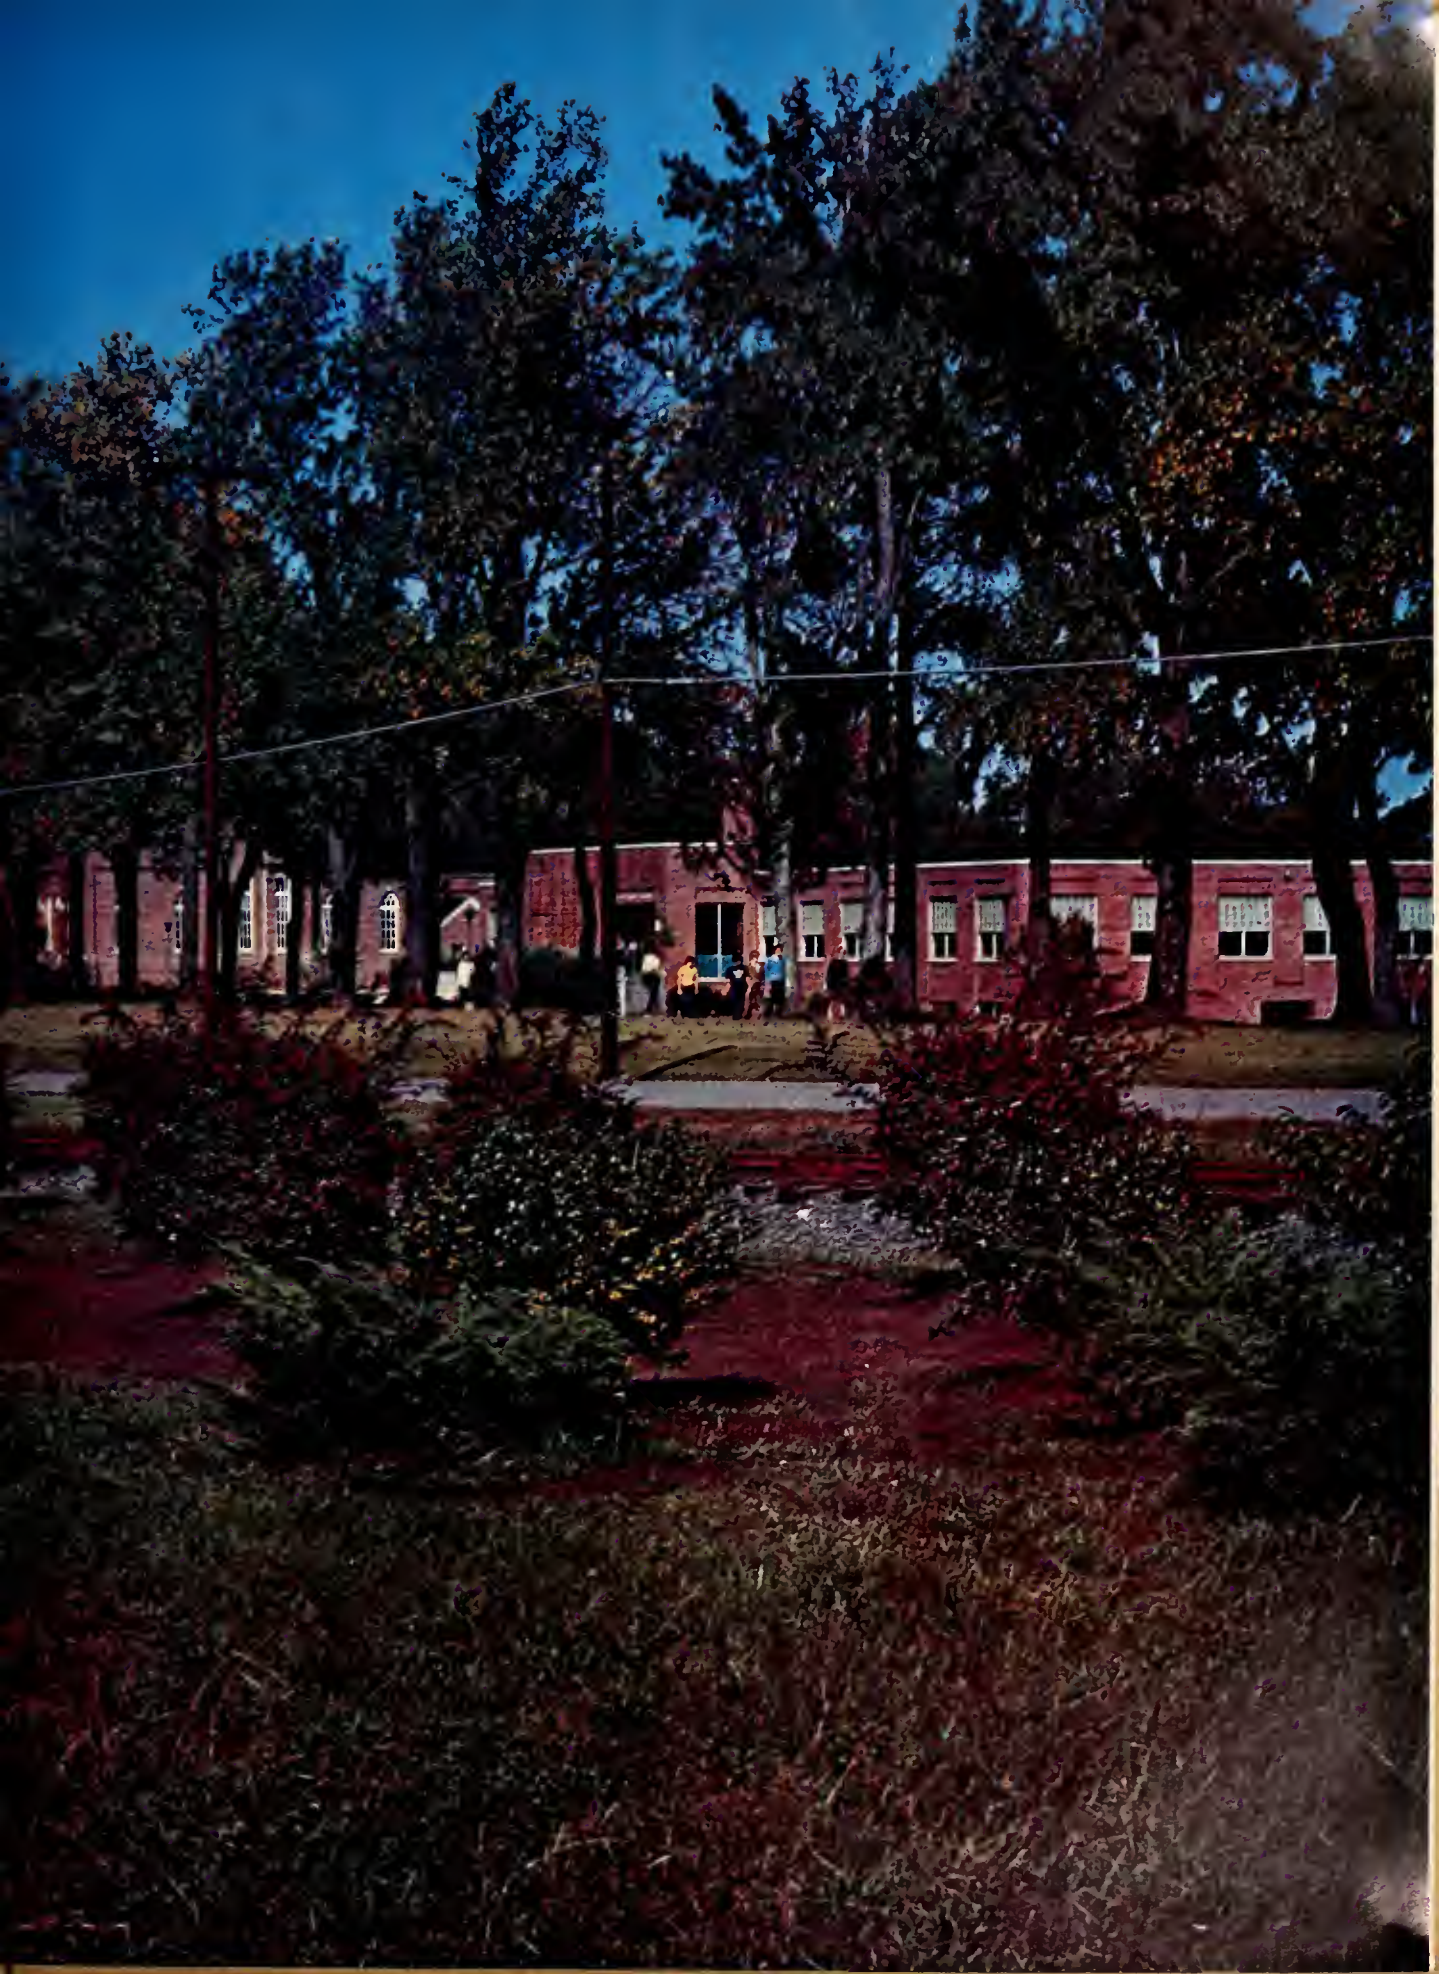

We have come a long way and we continue to progress. The joy and the pain of yet another year begins its take shape and the student begins again his struggle for the key, for knowledge.

The SPIRE is an attempt to capture that struggle and that growth in the academic year, 1969-1970.

Here at the Abbey it is a part of us and we are a part of it. We are fortunate in having more grass than buildings and more room than clutter, and more fresh air than that tainted with the scent of the dye factory and we put this atmosphere to use in study, work and play in 1969-1970.

The popular national trend of discarding lay administrators in favor of clerical control was adopted by the Abbey, once again upholding its fine progressive tradition. Working with computer-like efficiency, but maintaining a sensitivity to the individual needs of the students, the administration has enforced an appearance of order and harmony.*

Abbot Walter Coggin

1959 - 1970

Abbot Walter submitted his resignation as Abbot to Pope Paul VI and it was accepted and approved as of Wednesday, February 11, 1970. Father Abbot rose to the position of Vicar-Coadjutor of Belmont Abbey in 1956, and was elected the third Abbot-Ordinary of Belmont Abbey Nullius on November 25, 1959.

He has served as Chancellor of Belmont Abbey College since 1956, and also served as its President from 1965 until 1967.

It is with great admiration and sincere gratitude that we, the students of Belmont Abbey College, recall his tenure and wish this "good and faithful servant" Godspeed.

A college community is a living institution in which many ideas, attitudes, and passions thrive. Maintaining the order of a college, therefore, requires a man who is quiet but efficient, a man who can sensitively discern the turmoil that is inherent in a closely defined social environment.

Fr. Jude has displayed these characteristics. He has performed admirably in the face of numerous pressures: those which have arisen from the changing complexion of student attitudes, and others which have come as a reaction of the ultimate governing powers to these student attitudes. Delicately walking that proverbial thin line between irresponsible kow-towing to wanton student gripes and a closed-fisted institutional absolutism, Fr. Jude has proven to be a more than able administrator.

The Academe of a college or university is its very heart. Composed of faculty and students working together, for each other, it bears the fruit of the college's purpose — education.

With each department's idiosyncrasies comes the value of their instructors. We are proud of our faculty and students, for the most part, and recognize the value of the fruit they bear.

In the school year 1969-1970, we considered the learning process at this liberal arts institution and realized that without its idiosyncrasies it would not be Belmont Abbey College.

The Accounting department turns out socially minded scholars who are well aware of the debt each individual owes to society and quite able to fulfill a creative role in its development. With a well-balanced education behind them, these students are ready to participate in the realities of daily life knowing their destiny is to be double-entered in that Great Ledger in the sky.

The Senior class of Belmont Abbey College, as seniors in every college or university, find themselves perhaps not being in love with the college so much as attached to it, as to a part of life which can not be ignored or denied, to an influence, to a vast series of names, places, events and times that have changed him; caught between a desire to be free of the life and a fear of losing it.

Despite claims to the contrary, the senior year is more than a period of sophistication and social prominence. It is a time of learning, of realizing that people are what they are and not what you would like them to be, that the great moral truths which we held as so unquestionable are indeed very questionable, that the only way to achieve in this life is to help others achieve. And it is a time of worry, of planning for an all too uncertain future, where plans for jobs, graduate school and marriage become intermixed with — perhaps even lost in — the events of our time. For the senior, having spent sixteen years in preparation, is faced with the problem of shaping the life-time which follows.

of Belmont Abbey College, though hindered by a paucity of resources and facilities, again managed to make an admirable contribution to the development of the dramatic arts on this campus. Under the directorship of Fr. Kenneth Geyer, the Abbey players presented The Male Animal, a production which revealed a significant wealth of talent. Based on the potential worth found in this presentation, it is hoped that drama at BAC will move into the fore as an expression of the creative spirit.

Spire, 1969-1970,

has, as always, been an attempt to tell the story of the academic year. Once again, certain activities and events are missing due either to deadline dates or lack of space. We regret this year that baseball has had to be omitted. Coach Crunkleton and his fine squad of Abbeymen deserve recognition for a job perennially well done, the season began too late for coverage this year. We further regret that the blessing of our new Abbot-Chancellor, Fr. Edmund McCaffery, did not come in time for this printing.

This book is printed for the students and it is their story, their sentiments, their growth we attempted to portray on these pages.

We would like to especially thank Mr. J. P. Smith for his encouragement and Mr. Lloyd Mahaffey and Delmar for their patience and assistance and, of course, Fr. Kenneth Geyer for his undying interest.

seasons at BAC was Soccer which continued to be a strong sport. Our 8-4 record, however, did not allow us to attend the regional playoffs because of a rule change. This was the first time in four years that the Abbey has not participated in a post-season tourney. Last years strong basketball squad was dealt a severe blow in May, 1969. Nevertheless, the team, beset by academic and political events, made a strong showing by trying to make the best of a bad situation. The baseball team, loaded with talent, hopes to maintain its reputation as a small college power.

scene:

A middle-class college with a typical college atmosphere. A college student walks slowly down a college lane, thinking college thoughts. He surveys the college campus which surrounds him, noticing the college library, the college dorms, the college classrooms. Before his eyes lie all the visible elements of college life. But beneath this college exterior, he is aware of a considerable corpus of college situations to satisfy his college needs. As the college sun sinks slowly behind him, he pursues his receding shadow in search of college activities.

After everything has been said about the Sixties, nothing here will seem new. But looking back, especially over the past four years, the Sixties marked an epoch in time, the epoch which was ushered in by Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin.

But lest we forget, that giant step for mankind only serves to remind the three billion left behind that the longest step has yet to be made, much less to be agreed upon. That step is the determination of man to live in peace and brotherhood. Looking back on the Sixties, Vietnam and all the other vietnams underscore in red the fact that we must take that step.
